Note 1: For these provisions, in light of Articles 3 and 11 of the “Guideline on the Protection of Personal Information in the Financial Sector” prepared by the Personal Information Protection Commission and the Financial Services Agency, it is desirable that the provisions related to the treatment of the personal information are clearly distinguished from other provisions by using a different size font, a bold font, or other method to let the owner of the personal information recognize and understand it easily.

Note 2 In the case of providing the U.S. tax agency (the Internal Revenue Service) with information including the personal information of the Customer as required for complying with the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act in the U.S. (“FATCA”), it is necessary to obtain consent pursuant to the “Statement of Mutual Cooperation and Understanding between the U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Authorities of Japan to Improve International Tax Compliance and to Facilitate Implementation of FATCA” dated June 11, 2013 (by the Financial Services Agency, Ministry of Finance, and National Tax Agency). For the provision of personal information, it is also necessary to obtain consent pursuant to the Act on the Protection of Personal Information. If you intend to obtain the consent mentioned above not by individual consent forms but by this agreement, one approach is to change the title of Article 33 to “(Consent of Providing Personal Data, Etc. to a Third Party)” and add a provision like the one below:

For these provisions, in light of Articles 3 and 11 of the “Guideline on the Protection of Personal Information in the Financial Sector” prepared by the Personal Information Protection Commission and the Financial Services Agency, it is desirable, as in the case of Paragraph 1, that the provisions related to the treatment of the personal information are clearly distinguished from other provisions by using a different size font, a bold font, or other method to let the owner of the personal information recognize and understand it easily.

2. Based on the request from the U.S. government and the Japanese government, if the Company believes that the applicant meets or is likely to meet any of the following Items as a reportable person under the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act in the U.S. (“FATCA”), the Customer must consent that the Customer’s information (name, address/location, U.S. Taxpayer Identification Number, account number, balance of account, income generated on the account, and other information designated by the U.S. tax agency (Internal Revenue Service)) may be provided to the U.S. tax agency (Internal Revenue Service) for the purpose of tax execution by the U.S. tax agency:
