

Number of Regular Members' Offices by Prefecture

(Purpose)

These statistics are publicized as reference materials to enable the general public to understand the current status and trends in the financial instruments business industry.

(Definitions)

- “Exchange Participants, etc.” refers to trading participants or members of stock exchanges.
 - * The section “Exchange Participants, etc.” was abolished at the end of March 2014.
- “Other Office and Business Bases” refers to business offices and offices, other than head offices (for foreign companies, branches, etc. serving as bases in Japan).
 - * As of the end of April 2014, “Number of Other Offices and Business Bases” is derived by combining “Branches” and “Other Offices”.
 - * As of the end of August 2018, unmanned business offices and offices are excluded from this figure.

(Data Source)

Data are gathered from Regular Members' reports submitted in accordance with Article 18 of the JSDA's Articles of Association.

(Notes for Users)

- These statistics are aggregated numbers by counting head offices (for foreign companies, branches, etc. serving as bases in Japan) and other business offices or offices, including unmanned offices, by prefecture in Japan.
- The numbers of “Head Offices” (for foreign companies, branches, etc. serving as bases in Japan) indicate those for the members in the regions where they are located.
- The numbers in parentheses are those for foreign companies (branches, etc. serving as bases in Japan are included in the Head Offices total).
- Asterisks indicate revised figures.

(Publication Timing)

These statistics are as of end of each month and are published on the JSDA's website on the 25th two months later. When the 25th falls on a holiday, the data are announced the following business day.

These explanatory materials are intended to provide assistance to non-professionals using the statistical data provided by the JSDA in understanding the specialized vocabulary used in statistics. The definitions and other explanations used are not necessary based on laws or other regulations.